

Sentences and Punctuations

Now a statement gives you information
Yes a statement gives you information
While a questions is asking you a question that means you're curious about something
A command is real bossy (true). A command is telling you what to do
An exclamation yells to get your attention and then you add the punctuations
Come on

Lets make up sentences Lets make up sentences
And then we end it with correct punctuations
Lets make up sentences Lets make up sentences
And then we end it with correct punctuations

I went for a nice walk to the store
Why in the world did I take this walk?
Listen Walk on down for another mile
Wow you can't be serious

Now lets break it on down break it on down break it on down
With sentences
Now lets break it on down break it on down break it on down
With punctuations

I went for a nice walk to the store
Statement statement ends with a period
Why in the world did I take this walk?
Question question ends with a question mark
Listen Walk on down for another mile
Command command ends with a period
Wow you can't be serious
Exclamation ends with an exclamation point

Now a statement gives you information
Yes a statement gives you information
While a questions is asking you a question
That means you're curious about something
A command is real bossy (true)
A command is telling you what to do
An exclamation yells to get your attention
And then you add the punctuations
Come on

Now lets break it on down break it on down break it on down
With sentences
Now lets break it on down break it on down break it on down
With punctuations

I went for a nice walk to the store
Statement statement ends with a period
Why in the world did I take this walk?
Question question ends with a question mark
Listen Walk on down for another mile
Command command ends with a period
Wow you can't be serious
Exclamation ends with an exclamation point

Now a statement gives you information
Yes a statement gives you information
While a questions is asking you a question
That means you're curious about something
A command is real bossy (true)
A command is telling you what to do
An exclamation yells to get your attention
And then you add the punctuations
Come on

